DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. Claims 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19-37 of this application conflict with claims 1-37 of Application No. 09/928,172. 37 CFR 1.78(b) provides that when two or more applications filed by the same applicant contain conflicting claims, elimination of such claims from all but one application may be required in the absence of good and sufficient reason for their retention during pendency in more than one application. Applicant is required to either cancel the conflicting claims from all but one application or maintain a clear line of demarcation between the applications. See MPEP § 822.

2. Please note that Applicants contend that Application No. 09/928,172 is a divisional of U.S. Application No. 09/488,973 however, no restriction requirement has been found in Application No. 09/488,973.

3. Correction to the Oath and Declaration is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 10-17 and 19-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gilman et al., U.S. Patent 6,164,519.

Art Unit: 2823

6. Pertaining to claims 10-17 and 19-29, Gilman discloses a semiconductor process substantially as claimed. See FIGS.1-10 and columns 1-8, where Gilman teaches a method of bonding a physical vapor deposition target material to a backing plate material, comprising:

joining the target material and the backing a plate material in physical contact with one another (as in FIG. 4), the backing plate 12 and target material 10 both predominately comprising aluminum (see claims 1, 5 and 6); and thermally treating (column 1, lines 57-59) the joined target and backing plate materials to simultaneously diffusion bond the target material and the backing plate material and develop grains in the target material (column 3, lines 10-14), the diffusion bonding comprising solid state diffusion (hence, joining the materials in physical contact with each other and applying heat) between the backing plate and the target materials. However, Gilman fails to teach a predominate portion of the developed grains having a maximum dimension of less than 100 microns. Given the teaching of the references, it would have been obvious to determine the optimum thickness, temperature as well as condition of delivery of the layers involved. See In re Aller, Lacey and Hall (10 USPQ 233-237) "It is not inventive to discover optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. Note that the specification contains no disclosure of either the critical nature of the claimed ranges or any unexpected results arising therefrom. Where patentability is said to be based upon particular chosen dimensions or upon another variable recited in a claim, the Applicant must show that the chosen dimensions are critical. In re Woodruff, 919 f.2d 1575, 1578, 16 USPQ2d 1934, 1936 (Fed. Cir. 1990). Pertaining to claims 11-17 and 19-25 and 27-29 Gilman fails to disclose the ranges as claimed.

Art Unit: 2823

Any differences in the claimed invention and the prior art may be expected to result in some differences in properties. The issue is whether the properties differ to such an extent that the difference is really unexpected. In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986)

Appellants have the burden of explaining the data in any declaration they proffer as evidence of non-obviousness. Ex parte Ishizaka, 24 USPQ2d 1621, 1624 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1992).

An Affidavit or declaration under 37 CFR 1.132 must compare the claimed subject matter with the closest prior art to be effective to rebut a prima facie case of obviousness. In re Burckel, 592 F.2d 1175, 201 USPQ 67 (CCPA 1979).
